APOCALYPSE?

A look at Apocalyptic style with designer Jason Troisi

welcome

EDITOR'S LETTER

Spooky nights and sweater weather are so much fun, although hard to come by in sunny Southern California where we are based out of.

That said, we worked on some amazing editorials that carried the feeling of the fall season with them.

With Thanksgiving and Christmas fast approaching we reflect both on quality family time, and exploring all the wonderful traditions that make the fall and winter such a beautiful time.

Our editorials were brimming with great fashion that was still fun and spooky enough for the season.

We also found two amazing designers to collaborate on an epic Afro-Punk Editorial that I absolutely adore.

Our features in this edition include some amazing young musicians, and dancers that I can't wait for all of you to get to know better!

Finally, one cozy editorial will show you how to stay stylish when the cold months hit, along with being eco-conscious!

Here is to a fantastic end of our fall season and an even better winter.

A shadow.
A mist.
A cloud of smoke.
A sprinkle of dust.
As she creeps through the darkness, she is one with the night, but she is not afraid.
She is in a world of mystery, imagination and wonder.
The creatures of the night look at her with such a gaze, for she is majestic, and her dream world is enchanting.
She is wondrous and captivating ... and she is the ruler of her own life.
With a puff of smoke, she appears, only for a moment.
She has more adventuring to do.
Will you see her when you hear something go bump in the night?

ALICE in wonderland

We have been imagining an Alice in Wonderland shoot for a long time now, and everything came together perfectly for this editorial.

From an idyllic day that allowed us to shoot outdoors, to the fantastic costumes by Ozuri Couture, we enjoyed ourselves immensely.

The children all did a wonderful job portraying their respective characters and truly got in the spirit of the shoot.

Going back to the roots of the house of Fendi, we brought the models to old town in order to match the beautiful colors of this line to the backgrounds we discovered there.

Excited to represent a brand renowned for its elegance and craftsmanship, the models simply shone in these outfits.

The clean lines mixed with the distinctive bold logo bring a sense of clarity to the brand and make it hard to ignore.

The models discovered a bit of sass that was perfect to match the creativity of these looks.

But in the end, it was really all about color and movement for this editorial.

ava intero

Hello Ava, I am happy to have you here discussing your passion!

Let's start easy: How long have you been dancing? What is your best dance memory?

I have been dancing since I was 3 years old. I would have to say one of my favorite dance memories was when my team made it to nationals for the first time.

Oh that sounds exhilarating! Name the favorite things in your closet?

I love a lot of things in my closet but I would have to say my favorite things are my Doc Marten Mary Jane shoes. All my friends laugh at me and say they're grandma shoes, but I think they are so cute.

I love those too! Who is a person you admire most and what quality do you admire most in others?

Someone I admire is Merritt Moore because she is such an amazing example of a smart, strong, and independent woman. She is a ballerina and a quantum physicist and I love how she has been able to take both her passions and pursue them. A general trait I admire most in others is loyalty.

What are the things in life you are willing to be flexible on? What are the things you are unwilling to budge on?

Something in life I am willing to be flexible on is differences of opinion but something I will never budge on is whether or not someone is a good person.

Who is the celebrity that you would want to meet. What would you talk to them about?

I would absolutely love to meet Zendaya. She is such an inspiring and beautiful actress and has played some of my favorite characters. I would just want to have a normal conversation with her and maybe ask for life advice.

That's wonderful! As a ballerina, what trait do you think is most important to have?

I think it's really important as a ballerina to have good sportsmanship. As a dancer we are always going to be criticized and we aren't always going to place 1st in that competition that meant a lot to us. But that's just a reason to push yourself more.

Absolutely! What is your favorite vacation spot and will you share a special memory with us?

My family doesn't really go on vacation because we are so busy but so far my favorite place we have been to is Sedona and a special memory from that vacation is when I visited the Grand Canyon for the first time.

Sedona is stunning! In an ideal world tell me what you'll be doing in 10 years from now.

In 10 years I really hope to be in a modern or contemporary ballet company like Martha Graham or Complexions, and be working on my degree to be a physical therapist.

What are your favorite topics in school?

My favorite topics in school are History and English.

Name 5 songs on your playlist and tell us your #1 favorite and why.

5 songs on my playlist are "Like Real People Do" by Hozier, "Tangerine" by Glass Animals, "Suavemente" by Elvis Crespo, "Si Una Vez" by Selena, and "Easy On Me" by Adele. My favorite song right now would have to be Easy On Me because it is so emotional and it makes me cry, plus it is fun to sing, even though I can't sing very well.

I was always very drawn to post apocalyptic stories. From the style to the adventures, I have loved the idea of post apocalypse both in books and in movies for as long as I can remember.

When I discovered the fashion of The House of Jason Troisi I knew I had found the perfect storm so to speak, that would lead me to shoot the most epic editorial.

And I was right, the fashion was stunning and elevated the shoot, the make-up was absolutely perfect, thanks to the amazing Cristina Olivito and all of her team, and the models? Well, they delivered.

We travelled to Joshua Tree and explored the very nonsensical outdoor museum that Noah Purifoy has created there.

The extraordinary sculptures were the perfect background for this shoot. If Dr. Seuss and Tank Girl had met, this most certainly would have been their creation.

With accessories created by Cayce Poisal a wiz at post apocalyptic style, and more gorgeous fashion by Ozuri Couture, the whole shoot was a wonderful success.

Traveling to locations for shoot is such a great experience, getting everyone a little bit out of their comfort zone while bringing fresh breath to the art we are planning to create.

Joshua Tree is a favorite destination thanks to the amazing artist community that lives there, that make it possible to think and create with.

Now let's dive into the mad world we created!

Boho Bejeweled

What happens when a group of glimmering girls meet for a glorious late summer day...

The concept came together based on colors from a beautiful Jennafer Grace kimono that was in our personal closet from favorite store Bad Madge.

We fell in love with the combination of turquoise, fuchsia, and brown. We contacted our other favorite at Ali&Joe and asked if they could make custom T's, sweatpants and sweatshirts and they were right in. We stopped at Bad Madge and found disco balls, vintage dresses, more Jennafer Grace and had a full look. When Stayce Stone jumped in to bejewel the faces, we knew the day would be magic!

The shoot was set at a favorite location Poway Park. The trees, lighting and fences were perfect for the shoot. We knew the editing would be moody yet colorful. The vibe at the shoot was so much fun. We asked the girls in solo shots to hold the disco balls and think of them as a magic mystical ball that would reveal individual personalities.

What you see in the photos is just that.

Some of the standout pieces were the long kimonos from Jennafer Grace, the fringe custom sweatshirt from Ali&Joe and the fabulous vintage from Bad madge worn with cowboy boots. We wanted the concept to be cohesive but not too serious. Makeup artist Stayce mixed fun jewels with glimmering powder and liner and her makeup was icing on the beautiful boho cake.

The shoot had picnic blankets, lots of laughter, tons of tiktoks made, and endless memories that we are super thankful for.

Brianna Perez

Hello Brianna, I love catching your amazing dance photos on instagram and can't wait to learn more about you!

First of all, how long have you been dancing and what's your favorite style?

I have been dancing for 7 years and I have been dancing competitively for 9 years. My favorite style of dance is contemporary.

Fun! What is your family's favorite holiday and why?

My family's favorite holiday is Christmas because we get to spend time together. We like to share our favorites memories and sit next to the tree while enjoying our favorite hot drink.

That is one of my favorite things to do as well! Please share a special memory in dance that helped shape who you are today.

A special memory in dance is when I get words of encouragement before my performances because it really helps me be calm and confident before I go on stage. Every correction I have taken to heart and really push myself to be the best. I know that these encouraging words help me be the dancer I am now along with improving every week in my studio.

Oh that is a special moment! What are lessons you've learned by being in front of the lens, modeling?

Some of the lessons I have learned is to always have fun. It also helped me be professional in an artistic way. I has also showed me to adapt to the different styles or techniques different photographers have. It has been so fun to build a connection with different photographers.

Yes, I love how each photographer can bring out something completely different from the same models. How fun to work with people in that way! What is your vision of a perfect world?

My vision of a perfect world would be to live with happiness and love. I would like to spend more time with my parents. I am grateful that they are hard-workers but I would love to spend more time with them. I would love to have time to travel more. Sometimes our lives are so busy, we forget to invest time in ourselves to relax.

Oh that is a common problem with so many families nowadays! Is there anyone that you look up to, that truly inspires you?

The dancer that inspires me is Ella Horan. She is the most amazing and most humble dancer I have ever met. She inspires me to be the best and she leads by example. Her hard work and determination has lead her to be this amazing dancer. I hope that with my hard work every week, I can be like her. When I see her I always remind her that she is my inspiration. She always gives me words of advice and I love talking to her and hearing her advice.

She sounds simply amazing! Who has been your biggest supporter in your dance career and how have they impacted your journey?

I am grateful to have my parents and dance teachers be my biggest supporters in my dance career. My parents support and love are amazing and they have been in my dance journey since day one. They have been cheering me on every time. Their support has always made me so happy that I am able to achieve what I love to do. My dance teachers have shaped me to be the dancer I am now. Their amazing environment and commitment have helped me improve every week. They have helped me be the best and I leave inspired after every class I take.

What's the best advice you've ever received?

The best advice I have received was told by one of the best dance teacher/choreographer, Mark Meismer. He once said, "practice makes progress, not perfect". That is completely true. Sometimes us dancers strive for perfection but it can never be achievable. Practice will give us progress as we practice every week. I always think of this when doing a class or when auditioning. It really reminds me to be my best and do my best.

What are your big plans for this next year?

Some of my big plans for next year is to continue working on my dance career. Whether it's taking more classes or learning more styles. I want to be a well rounded dancer and be the best in every class I take. I also plan to sign with a model agency because I also want to learn about a new industry and build amazing relationships. I want to be a model for commercials or marketing. I feel like dance photography has prepared me for the start of a modeling career.

And last, but not least, what would you do if you came home and found a penguin hanging out in your refrigerator?

I would absolutely help the penguin out of the refrigerator. Then, we would chat in why he was in the refrigerator in the first place. I would also totally make the penguin my friend because, why not? I think we would be the best of friends and would learn so much from one another.

I love it! Thank you for your time Brianna!

Azure Park Playtime. Two sister in the park on a glorious day. Reminiscent of playtime's in the past where crisp frilly cotton were the outfits of choice. These timeless beauties evoke feelings of innocence and joy. There is nothing like the special bond of a sister.

Claire is wearing a marvelous little eyelet dress in Azure by Chloe. The puffed sleeves and simple cut, highlight her beauty. Dylan wears a cotton stripe Marni Kid dress in cotton stripe with a detailed neckline. Her high bun keeps her cool while showing off the perfection of her dress.

We shot in Poway Park on a bright sunny day and wandered the green grass. All of us taking a moment to appreciate the beauty of the season.

Barefoot Winter

Curated by. Marie Lafranque

The winters of California are something special. The air is crisp, but children are still playing barefoot.

These bright and colorful coats from ANEMONE are made out of vintage repurposed quilts,. They are the perfect addition to a winter wardrobe whether you are living in sunny California or in the middle of Vermont where the owner of ANEMONE lives. @anemone.vt Handmade with passion and love, each coat is completely unique and features lovely accents that elevate these into fashion pieces that everyone will comment about and that will become an heirloom piece to pass down in the family.

We paired the coats with adorable crochet hats by Kate from @letmebeyourfancytea who chose the colors to match the coats beautifully. These adorable hats are not only warm, but the epitome of cuteness and were just the right touch to bring this whole colorful vintage look to completion.

Adorable trio of sisters, Kalea, Luana and Nalani played around the roots of a magnificent tree while we shot in warm afternoon light. The whole thing was reminiscent of days spent at grandma's farm, enjoying sunny afternoons while waiting for a feast that ends in the most delicious apple pie and ice cream dish.

homescool band

Hello Lennon, I am so excited to be interviewing you today! I have been following you since you released Zoom Birthday and absolutely love your work.

You are a musician duo with your dad, and you have some pretty amazing friends that are featured in your music videos.

Homescool is the name of your band and was created during the covid's year of remote learning in order to blow off some steam.

First tell me all about your singing! I know you and your dad work together to create your songs. How did that come about?

When covid first happened and we were stuck at home, there was a school project where I was supposed to write a song about the ocean. So we made a song and video called "I Love the Sea"! I'd watched my dad work with a lot of singers in his studio and I had just started playing Ukulele, so I was pretty used to the microphone and the headphones. It was really fun. So we just kept making more songs and videos!

With school starting again, do you feel that you will continue singing and creating as much as you did this last year?

Well, I do a lot of activities, like singing lessons, gymnastics, and soccer. But we did just play my first concert at a friend's birthday party. And we are doing a project to raise money for Watts Empowerment Center and HOLA. Helping with music and theater programs in communities that don't have them.

How wonderful! Enriching the life of kids with art is a really amazing goal!

What other things do you love doing? Tell me about yourself!

I love doing gymnastics. I am on the silver team at Vernon Lee. My favorite events are bars and floor.

I play soccer. The team is all girls and my dad is the coach.

I also just started piano lessons.

How important have been your friends in your journey?

I know that they support you in your music videos and you are all a cohesive group of kiddos who really love spending time together, do they help you come up with song ideas?

I love working with my friends. It makes it so much fun! My friends are so funny and they always makes me laugh!!

I bet! I loved taking photos of you all together, you were having so much fun!

Ok, something a little more serious: what is your vision of a perfect world?

No litter... taking care of the planet is so important!

Everyone would have a home in my perfect world.

Everyone would be treated the way they want to be treated.

There would be no sickness and definitely no Covid!

I love your big heart.

All of those are so important, and would definitely help to create the perfect world.

I agree with you as well, enough already with Covid!

Lennon and dad

Is there anyone that you look up to, that truly inspires you?

Pink. Because she never splits up with her family, even on tour. She always stays with them.

She eats really healthy, and she is an amazing singer and is also amazing at gymnastics.

That's right! I worked with the aerialist who trained her for her tour, that was amazing! Aerial arts are really difficult and I was very inspired when I saw Pink up there!

Who has been your biggest supporter in your singing career and how have they impacted your journey?

Definitely my dad. He really believes in me and always pushes me to do my best.

Yes, I can see that your dad is so encouraging! Ok, and what's the best advice you've ever received?

Try your best and never quit!

That can be hard at times, but is the key to success!

What are your big plans for this next year singing or otherwise?

I have my first gymnastics competition in October. And I think we are going to make some more Homescool music videos this year!

I simply can't wait!

And last, but not least, what would you do if you came home and found a penguin hanging out in your refrigerator?

Ahhhhh. I'd take the penguin on the trampoline. I would teach it to do a lay-out flip, cause I don't think penguins can tuck!

So perfect!

Afro PUNK

Curated by. Marie Lafranque

Focusing on the beauty of African inspired fashion we worked with Afro-American designers and models to bring life to this stunning editorial.

Krys Corvette meshes her love of African prints with the well loved bandana print that is a staple of Americana to create a style all of her own.

With bold lines and stunning accents, she brings a dash of street style to the runway in a perfect combination that is sure to turn heads.

Meanwhile, accessories by Adorned in Taji are simply gorgeous on each of the girls, framing their features and bringing a soft beauty to the outfits.

Belange Mutunda created the outfits for the older girls. Originally from the Congo, she moved to the United States in order to expand her brand, as well as continue her education to elevate her brand.

And elevate she did, both of her custom work and ready to wear lines are stunning. The prints so attractive and the shapes fun to play with.

The models adored these stunning pieces.
